LAX METHODS.

How the Pay Roll Came to Be Stuffed.

Everything Went That Anybody Suggested.

Any Yellow Dog Could Get His Name on the List.

Nobody Tried to Prevent It—Statesmen Tell How They Came to Be Sponsors for Duckworth's Damnable Queer Transactions.

(BY TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 29.—[Special Dispatch.] Statemen had a chance to tell the line this afternoon to explain how they secured or came to be charged with appointments on the so-called temporary roll. Mr. Chynoweth did not call all those whose names are on Duckworth's list of sponsors, but will have the rest of them up Monday. Enough was told today, however, to show the extremely lax condition of affairs that prevailed at the opening of the session, and how the opportunities for Duckworth to put whomsoever he pleased upon the rolls were almost unlimited.

The rush of members to secure places for friends began even before the Legislature met, but their actions were nothing to the scramble made by those who wanted jobs. As Mr. Lacey of San Francisco said, applicants made his life a burden and he told them to go and get their own jobs and if they wanted to use his name they could do so. Brusie snapped at this point that his method of defense will be to show that this army of leeches all came to Duckworth giving the name of some member as having recommended them, and that the list of sponsors which the chief clerk made up, and which he now claims is not correct, was made up from memory of names given him by attachés whom he argued, though specious, does not meet the claims that have been made that Duckworth had written endorsements for nearly every name. Furthermore, it does not meet the damaging disclosures in relation to sixteen names inserted after the original list had been announced.

Messrs. Vosburg, Valentine, Kenyon and Chynoweth of Southern California were questioned by the special committee as to the nature of their appointments and, to their credit, everything appeared open and above board from their statements.

Mr. Kenyon testified that he made his recommendation for the appointment of W. S. Kingsbury at the request of W. S. Kingsbury at the request of a legislator.

Chairman Breiling, of the Mileage Committee, said there was a misunderstanding about the attaché accredited to the committee. J. C. Williams came to them and said he was down on the list as Campbell, and begged the committee's assistance. Assistant Sergeant-at-arms Laprière told the committee that Williams was a "faithful servant;" the committee saw by the Blue Book that there was a man named Campbell here two years ago, and they erased Campbell's name and inserted that of Williams. This is one of the names which it has been alleged were inserted after the temporary roll was made up.

Mr. Breiling admitted that the committee recommended mileage for people who were not entitled to it, and told how it came about. He wanted it understood that he didn't move the adoption of his own report.

Mr. Dibble admitted the appointment of page Donald Bruce, but did not remember asking for Ed Smith.

Hart North told how Duckworth had asked if he (Duckworth) could do anything for him and how he (North) had suggested Keating for a place.

Messrs. Robinson and Power had made requests.

The suspicious names of M. A. Kearney and H. Friedman, charged to him, Mr. Lacy denied asking places for or knowing. Neither had he sent in the name of W. J. Harrington.

Mr. Harris knew nothing about Rodriguez and Miss Bertola, charged to him. He had endorsed W. H. Rice at Mr. Bettman's request. Brusie said Duckworth wanted to explain about this action that the valley will receive better care and will form a national park equal to Yellowstone.

Mr. Gately, to whom is accredited J. L. Martin, one of the inserted names, denied making personal requests for any of the four charged to him. He had told people they could use his name, as his word went a long way with Duckworth, but he had expected no patronage himself or he would have sent to San Francisco for some good Democrats.

Mr. Gately said that he did not request-at-arms' rooms testified that he had been a deputy in the Sheriff's office of San Bernardino county. He had been requested by Parkinson, former sergeant-at-arms, to come up. The latter had expected to be reflected, and said the officer could not get on without him. He was one of those who asked the committee for mileage. He got, he thought, $114. He resigned his place as a deputy sheriff three or four days prior to coming to Sacramento. The Sheriff had a prisoner for San Quentin and asked Hocking to take him along. Hocking said he asked no compensation, but admitted having received $50. He had done other work for the Sheriff, he said, but his own and the Sheriff's fare and expenses.

He assisted Parkinson in getting up the list of attachés accredited to the latter, but efforts to elicit just what ones and what work they had done was productive of more amusement than information. He did not remember all the names, and the most he could say of those whom he did remember, was that they "were around." He thought the list might have been changed since Parkinson saw it. When he took it to Duckworth the latter had said he couldn't appoint all those men, as members were jumping on him like jack rabbits for patronage, and he would have to show them some courtesy. Parkinson went to see Duckworth, and the appointments were made.

Janitor Govan was ready to acknowledge that he got T. W. Measure a place as electrician, but was not quite definite as to what work that gentleman performed.

Brusie thought he had scored a great point when Chynoweth testified to having heard the name of his client read from the desk, as it had been claimed by others that the list of Duckworth's original appointments was not read.

Minute Clerk Wickham, however, is positive the list was read.

Controller Colgan was present, but had not brought the warrants asked for, and the committee adjourned until

Monday.

Each witness, with one or two exceptions, was asked if he had had any arrangement with Duckworth to vote for him in return for patronage and whether he had voted for the Mileage Committee's report. All denied that any such arrangement existed, but several were not sure as to how they voted.

Minute Clerk Wickham says that while he wanted, and now has, but two assistant clerks, six were placed on the temporary roll, including Lombard and Rodriguez, whom their alleged sooners disavow.

Duckworth did not appear today, and Brusie will be required to produce a physician's certificate when he does appear, that his absence was unavoidable.

AN ATTACK ON MELICK.

Assemblyman Leavitt.

(BY TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 29.—[Special Dispatch.] Assemblyman Leavitt of Alameda, who since the opening of the session has acted as the champion on the floor of State Printer Johnson, created a mild sensation yesterday when he made an attack on Chairman Melick of the Retirement Committee, in the course of which he stated that Melick of the Retirement Committee was conducting his examination into the affairs of the State Printer Johnson, irrespectively of party. He charged Melick with unfriendly bias against Johnson, and then called for the report from the Committee on Retirement on Bridgeford's resolution, which had been referred to Melick's committee.

The resolution in question calls for a special committee of five to investigate Johnson's conduct, and the evident intention of Leavitt is to take the investigation out of Melick's committee if possible.

The matter was finally closed by the House voting to instruct the Committee on Retirement to report back Bridgeford's resolution to the Senate.

Leavitt is to be popular as it will be among his own followers in Michigan.

Ex-Speaker Titus Sheard of New York was among Maj. McKinley's early callers today. He talked an hour and a half with the President-elect and was asked to remain until the afternoon. Said he: "I am very anxious to be popular as it will be among my own supporters in Michigan."

Gen. Alger arrived here at 1 o'clock.

He was accompanied by ex-Congressman A. W. Thompson of Ohio. Gen.

Alger, after luncheon, had a long talk with the President-elect, and that at no time before today had Maj. McKinley said anything directly or indirectly of the subject, and he remained until midnight. He remained until train time. At 4:15 p.m. he returned to Cleveland to renew his conference with National Guardsmen, and will thence go to his home in Detroit.

THE CORONER'S JURY SAYS IT

Budden Death of Lawyer Loughbor-

Locked Up for Being Afraid of Himself.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—William Robles was today sentenced by Judge Wallace to fourteen years in San Quentin for perjury. The crime of Robles was committed under unusual circumstances in that his perjury was committed to save another from the penitentiary.

Some months ago a woman named Aggie Abbott was convicted of grand larceny for stealing a gold watch from the pockets of John Ellis, a countryman. At that time Robles was a prisoner in the County Jail, charged with vagrancy. To save the Abbott woman Robles made an affidavit in which he swore that he stole Ellis's watch and that the woman, then under conviction, was innocent of any connection with the crime.

The attorney for the woman presented Robles's affidavit to Judge Bahrs in support of a motion for a new trial. Surprised at the contents of the affidavit, Judge Bahrs decided upon an investigation, which resulted in his denial of the motion and sentenced the woman to term in the penitentiary. Robles being ordered into custody for perjury, and was subsequently indicted by the grand jury.

THE COONEY CASE.

District-Attorney Barnes Springs a Sensation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—District-Atty. Barnes introduced a sensational element into the testimony at the preliminary examination of ex-Notary Public Cooney today. Cooney is charged with perjury in having sworn that the late James C. Fahey, acknowledged before him during half a million dollars worth of property claimed by Mrs. Nettie R. Craven, the alleged contract wife of the dead millionaire. The prosecution introduced testimony showing that the blank forms on which the acknowledgement was made was not present until 1896, while the document is dated in 1894.

Today the District Attorney charged that Cooney had printed on Saturday, 2000 fac-similes of the blank forms in question. It is charged that being unable to secure a necessary affidavit, he went to a printer and had the documents introduced in the case, with the result that the opponents of the trust will argue that the pencil will and the deeds to Mrs. Craven are included in this category.

AFRAID OF HIMSELF.

George D. Brandon Locked Up at His Own Request.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
SAN JOSE, Jan. 29.—A man giving the name of George D. Brandon called at the Police Station and asked to be locked up, as he was possessed of a deadly pistol and a revolver, and he was afraid he would harm himself. He was evidently suffering from a long debauch. He said he came from San Francisco with a firm determination of ending his life. Though poorly dressed, he bore traces of refinement. Brandon says that for fifteen years he was in Japan where he did considerable newspaper work. Six months ago he was in Tacoma. At that time he says he had jewelry and all kinds of money. He came to San Francisco about a month ago where he spent the last of his money and about two years ago. Brandon says he is the son of George B. Brandon, the well-known mill manufacturer of Sing Sing, N. Y.

Studying Posts and Telegraphs of Other Nations.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—Three officials of the Japanese government who were delegated a commission to attend the recent international postal conference at Buda-Pesth, Hungary, and who since the conference have been examining the postal, telegraph and telephone systems of the European countries, and the United States, are here. The party includes K. Den, Director-General of the Bureau of Post, Telegraph and Telephone; T. Matsunaga, counselor and private secretary under Director-General Den; and K. Tanaka, second attaché.

They have devoted eleven months to an investigation of the postal, telegraph and telephone systems of European nations and the United States, and will recommend the best features of the several systems for the government's adoption. They spent some time in New York, Washington and Chicago. Yesterday they inspected the workings of the branch postoffices of this city. Some cables have already been laid in Japan since the recent war, and will be laid in the near future. The Japanese will have a cable between Japan and Korea within three years, it is said.

DIED OF APOPLEXY.

Sudden Death of a Prominent San Francisco Lawyer.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—Alexander Loughborough, one of the best-known lawyers in the State, died suddenly at 11:50 o'clock last night at his residence, after being stricken with apoplexy. He was born in Warrenton, Va., in 1834. He was a graduate of Georgetown College, Washington. He came here in 1860 and returned to Wheeling, W. Va., in 1867, when he married.

He then removed to Baltimore and practiced some two years and then came to this Coast. He at once entered into a law partnership with the late Julius George, which continued up to the time of the latter's death in 1880. After his partner's death he entered into partnership with William M. Newhall, the partnership existing but a short time, Mr. Newhall retiring from practice of law.

Mr. Loughborough's specialty was as a land lawyer, his personal practice being the care of property interests of absent owners.

A JUDGE'S QUALIFICATIONS.

Every Judge His Own Judge in the Matter.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—The Superior Court held that a Superior Judge can assess his qualification to hear an action, and that his decision is not subject to review.

John N. Hudner, of the law firm of Briggs & Hudner of Hollister, is married to a niece of Superior Judge Bree. The plaintiff, in an action, claimed the Judge was disqualified because Hudner was connected with the defendants. This point was contested by the defendants, who claimed that they had not employed Hudner, and that they were released from all claims for attorney's services. Notwithstanding this, upon the showing that Hudner had conferred with his partner, Briggs, during the progress of the trial, the court ruled that he was disqualified, and the trial changed to Santa Clara county. The defendants appealed. In affirming the judgment the Supreme Court says:

"Whether Mr. Hudner was to be determined of disqualification was left to the Judge. Bree found the matters presented to him at the hearing of the motion, and his decision is not open to review."

SWANHILDA DUE.

Australian Detectives on the Lookout for the Ship.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—The steamer North Fork passed in today. The vessel is from the North and was off Point Reyes last evening. She did not sight any square-riggers outside the bar, though several are due. The British ship Swanhilda is now not due. She will probably come in between next and Monday morning next. A great deal has been said about the ship, but seafarers only commenced to look for her when she was sixty-five days out. The police, and especially the Australian detectives, hope that the ship will complete her voyage in the next forty-eight hours.

VERDICT OF SUICIDE.

Coroner's Jury's Peculiar Finding in the Nordhausen Case.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—In direct contradiction of the word of medical testimony at the inquest today over the remains of Charles C. Nordhausen, the Oakland capitalist, the jury brought in a verdict of suicide while the deceased was in his room in the Baldwin Hotel, delirious from excessive drink. Before his death Nordhausen had practically admitted to the physicians that he had been shot by a woman, and doctors testified that it would have been impossible for Nordhausen to have inflicted the wounds from which he died.

ARIZONA GOVERNORSHIP.

Senator Boile Penrose's Brother
Among the Aspirants.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
TOMBSTONE (Ariz.), Jan. 29.—The Tombstone Prospector in an article published tonight, mentions as among the possible aspirants for the governorship of Arizona Hon. H. A. F. Pehrson, brother of Hon. Boile Penrose, the recently elected Senator, prominently identified with Arizona and is a citizen of the Territory. He is president of the Commonwealth Mining Company, operating at Pearce, this country, which is considered one of the richest mines in the West.

CHICAGO TOURISTS.

A Distinguished Party En Route to the Coast.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
PHOENIX (Ariz.), Jan. 29.—A party arrived by special car this evening from Chicago, consisting of H. H. Porter, chairman of directors of the Chicago and Eastern Railway; Robert T. Lincoln, and K. Fairbank, Marshall Field and Son's Western manager commanding the operations of the Missouri. They have been at the Congress mine, in which Fairbank is interested, for several days. They are simply on a pleasure trip that may be continued to Southern California.

UTAH DEADLOCK.

No Choice for Senator Yet—Women

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—The Coroner's jury today returned a verdict that "Little Pete," the murdered Chinese merchant and sport, was murdered by unknown persons. Two high-binders under arrest on suspicion of being the assassins were present, but witnesses could not identify them as the men who did the shooting.

Mrs. Flood's Funeral.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—The funeral of Mrs. Flood, widow of the late Bonanza King, James C. Flood, was held today. It was notable for its somberness. The streets were in the belms of mourning, no flowers and no pallbearers. All this was in accordance with the wish of Mrs. Flood.

Death of John L. Durkee.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—John L. Durkee, for many years fire marshal of this city, died today. He was a plump and prominent member of the vintners.

CONSPIRED TO DEFRAUD.

Attempt to Steal a Bank with Bogus Mining Bonds.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—S. W. Marshall, an alleged mine-owner, and A. S. Whitman, a real-estate dealer, are under arrest here charged with forgery and conspiracy to defraud. The men were arrested on complaint of officials of the First National Bank. It is charged that the two men conspired to defraud the bank of $500,000 by selling it forged gold-mining bonds.

The two men have been under arrest several days, but at the request of the bank authorities, their arrest has been kept quiet.

Marshall, when arrested in his office on Dearborn street, gave his business as a mine-owner. Whitman is a resident of Chicago.

Marshall called at the First National Bank a few days ago, in company with Whitman. The former had a quantity of gold-mining stocks, on which he wanted to raise some money. The manager of the bond department waited on the men and said the bank was willing to take the bonds if they were all right, and requested that they be sent to him to be certified. They were bonds of a well-known mining-stock company of Denver, and listed up high in the Colorado Mining Exchange.

Communication with the company in Denver throughout the result was that the bonds were worthless, as the numbers had been raised and the signatures forged.

The bank notified the detective department and Detectives Corbin and Ross were detailed on the case, resulting in the apprehension of both men.

It is believed that Whitman was ignorant of the fact that the bonds were fraudulent.

The scheme came very near being successful, and the fact that the bonds were worthless was discovered just in time to save the bank from

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—The steamer North Fork passed in today. The vessel is from the North and was off Point Reyes last evening. She did not sight any square-riggers outside the bar, though several are due. The British ship Swanhilda is now not due. She will probably come in between next and Monday morning next. A great deal has been said about the ship, but seafarers only commenced to look for her when she was sixty-five days out. The police, and especially the Australian detectives, hope that the ship will complete her voyage in the next forty-eight hours.

CIRCULATION.

Sworn Weekly Statement of the Circulation of the Los Angeles Times.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, etc., etc.

Personally appeared before me, Harry Chandler, superintendent of circulation of the Times-Mirror Company, who, being duly sworn, deposes and says that the daily bona fide editions of the Times for each day of the week ended January 23, 1897, were as follows:

Sunday, January 17,	22,610
Monday,	18,110
Tuesday,	19,110
Wednesday,	18,610
Thursday,	21,600
Friday,	16,620
Saturday,	20,780

Total for the week, 121,910

Difference for the week, 17,415

HARRY CHANDLER.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 23d day of January, 1897.

J. C. OLIVER,

Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

NOTE.—THE TIMES is a seven-day paper. The above aggregate of 121,910 copies, issued by us during the seven days of the past week, would, if apportioned on the basis of a single evening paper, give a daily average circulation for each week-day of 20,318 copies.

THE TIMES is the only Los Angeles paper which regularly published sworn statements of its circulation, both gross and net, weekly, monthly and yearly, during the past several years. Advertisers have the right to know the NET CIRCULATION of the medium which seeks their business, and this THE TIMES gives them correctly, from time to time.

FRANCO-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE.

It Has Placed France in the First

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.

Athen says:

Trouble has been brewing at the university for several days past, owing to a quarrel between the students and Prof. Galvaelan.

The students finally armed themselves and took possession of the premises, remaining there for three days and nights.

Yesterday (Friday) the Grecian government decided to close the university.

A line of troops was accordingly thrown around the buildings and the water supply cut off.

It was estimated that fully 80 students remained within the walls of the university. Those within the buildings were allowed to leave at any time, but admission was absolutely refused by the troops to all.

Continuation of the students who remained on the streets was accordingly planned.

Proceedings of the students attempted to reach the palace for the purpose of demanding from the King the dismissal of Prof. Galvaelan.

The police, however, gave orders to the students' mob and the authorities ordered firearms discharged in the air.

The students returned the fire, in the main using revolvers. During the fight a boy was killed and several others wounded.

At a meeting of the City Council last night it was decided to maintain the blockade of the university buildings until the students yield to the authorities.

The university was founded in 1837, and during recent years over twelve hundred students have been in annual attendance.

THE CABINET.

President McKinley's Cabinet, including certainties and strong probabilities, seems likely to be constituted nearly as follows:

Secretary of State—JOHN SHERMAN of Ohio.

Secretary of the Treasury—LYMAN J. GAGE of Illinois.

Secretary of War—RUSSELL A. ALGER of Michigan.

Secretary of the Navy—JOHN D. LONG of Massachusetts.

Secretary of the Interior—JOSEPH MCKENNA of California.

Postmaster-General—(Undecided.)

Attorney-General—NATHAN GOFF of West Virginia.

Secretary of Agriculture—JAMES WILSON of Iowa.

Portraits and brief sketches of seven out of the eight probable portfolio-bearers are printed in this morning's Times.

John Sherman, statesman and patriot; Lyman J. Gage, able financier and man of affairs; Russell A. Alger, distinguished soldier, successful business man and eminent civilian; John D. Long, ex-Governor of his State and man of sterling worth; Joseph McKenna, ex-Congressman, popular Californian and distinguished jurist; Nathan Goff, soldier, lawyer, jurist and publicist; James Wilson, clear-headed and resourceful—these are fitting advisers and official associates for a President whose administration is destined to be illustrious in the nation's history.

SAND-LOT LEGISLATION AGAIN.

Mr. Fitzgerald, who, by the grace of God, has been elected to the office of Labor Commissioner in and for this State, takes exception to The Times' criticism of some bills which he is having introduced in our State Legislature, and which it recently characterized as "sand-lot legislation," an utterance which it has no desire to retract, if it could. Mr. Fitzgerald is a professional labor agitator, who has been for years trying to show the people what a "natural-born dandy fool" the man was who invented that trite maxim, "Mind your own business." In the past years of this State's existence, we have had the "Democratic push" and the "Republican push," but Mr. Fitzgerald evidently is endeavoring to create a new political organization, similar to those in existence in Australia, which will be known as the "Labor push."

One of his measures is that known as Assembly bill No. 44, one or two sections of which were given to the public in yesterday's Times on page 14, included in our special correspondence from the capital. A portion of section 6 of that bill reads as follows:

"Whenever any controversy or difference exists between an employer, whether an individual, a copartnership or corporation, and an employee or employees, or between non-parties, or between wages or other grievances before the commissioner, when he deems it necessary, shall have the power, upon the request of either party thereto, to visit the locality of dispute and make careful inquiry into the cause thereof, and whenever any controversy exists between an individual and an employment agent, the commissioner shall have power to investigate the same under the provisions of sections 7 and 8 of this act."

The labor laws of Australia, which have driven millions of local capital into sheep husbandry and gold mining that might have gone into the manufacture of articles needed in daily life, were never more one-sided than this. Sensible men know that labor is, and always has been, most prosperous when the rights of capital are properly conserved. The trouble is that capital has no rights that these labor agitators feel bound to respect. They expect the employer to march up with a big bank account, erect factory buildings put

EBB AND FLOW OF WEALTH.

"This is a world of compensations," said Mr. Lincoln, in the celebrated "lost" speech made by him at Bloomington. Whatever is taken from the people reverts to them in the course of time. Early in the present century a churlish old fellow named Thellusson amassed a fortune in a small way in the little city of Oxford in England. His son partook of his father's thrift and the estate began to roll up grand proportions. A grandson then came on, an astute man of business, and the Thellusson estate rolled up till he thought he would be a second Rothschild. But he died in 1886 and made will at least none was ever found. His only son came of age about two years later and compensated for the theft of his forefathers by making ducks and drakes of all his ancestors' accumulations. The recent skeleton in the closet of Earl Powlett, in England, the son grinding away at a hand organ in the streets while the father squandered his wealth in riotous dissipation rather than leave his son a pound, is familiar to all of England and most of America. Arent the propensity for one generation to save, in order that a succeeding generation may squander, the Tulare Register has this to say:

"It is said that the Bradley-Martins of New York are to give a fancy dress ball that will cost $240,000. That is a crime."

In the sight of heaven and of those Bradley-Martins people, the son who is the author of this? They are worse than Anarchists, they are sapping the foundations from under free institutions. And there is no cause for worry through fear that they will not receive their reward. The family of this Bradley-Martins is the scum of society, the scum of the earth.

Capital and labor are dependent upon one another, but not in the way that these labor agitators would have us believe. They overlook one thing—that the "wheels can go round," as Mr. Habberton's little nephew was won't to put it. Once hamper capital with as many restrictions and obstructions as has been done by the "workmen" politicians at the antipodes, and you will see the same withdrawal of capital from manufacturers and the same rush for mines and sheep ranches. Any man who has visited Sydney or Melbourne in the past five years can tell of the awful spectacle to be seen on the streets of those cities—both larger than San Francisco, by the way—with processions of pale-faced men carrying banners bearing the Master's supplication: "Give us this day, our daily bread."

We do not want to see such sights on the streets of San Francisco or Los Angeles, and that is why we don't want any such legislation as this demagogue Fitzgerald would bring us. We want to see labor prosperous, because it is skilled labor that makes towns and cities, and we want to see capital remunerated for its outlay, for unless it is so, labor must suffer through an enforced idleness. It is quite hard enough work now to get capital, either western or local, to embark in manufacturing enterprises. It will be worse if these demagogic measures of Fitzgerald's become laws. Let them be indefinitely postponed and their author with them, if possible. Let the members of the California Senate and House "brace up" and refuse to bow to the dictates of the despotic labor agitators, who labor only with their callous jaws—refuse to enact any laws for any class unless those laws are right in themselves, and grounded in justice, equity, necessity and public expediency!

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA AND FLORIDA.

Dispatches from Florida announce that the State has again been visited by a severe frost. The mercury went to 20 deg. at Jacksonville on the morning of Thursday. Even at Tampa, 300 miles south of Jacksonville, the thermometer registered only 4 deg. above freezing. The damage to the winter vegetable crop has been great, and it is probable that the young shoots of the orange trees have been badly frozen, although reports to this effect are not yet conclusive.

When the great freeze of two years ago visited Florida, destroying not only the orange crop but the trees, residents of that State claimed that it was a very exceptional calamity, which might not occur again in a generation. It is true that it was perhaps the first occasion since oranges have been grown in Florida on a commercial scale that the trees were destroyed, although there had been several severe frosts which had injured the crop. Now, after the short period of two years, comes another severe frost, while Southern California has not been visited by a sufficient degree of cold to injure the fruit in the least, even in the lower sections of the orange-growing region, which are not well adapted to the industry.

The Times does not desire to crow over the misfortunes that have visited the horticulturists of Florida, but truth compels us to emphasize the fact that Southern California is the only genuine semi-tropic section of the United States. Along the foothills of the seven southern counties, between Point Conception and San Diego, there are hundreds of square miles of land, in the foothills which are secure from the visits of Jack Frost. It is not claimed that these belts are absolutely frostless. Once in a number of years, when there is a specially severe spell of weather, it may last for a few hours, be cold enough to nip the tender shoots of the tomato and other equally delicate plants, or even, perhaps, to touch the young orange and lemon trees, but there has never been an occasion throughout all the region indicated when a mature orange tree or lemon tree has been killed, while during nine winters out of ten the most delicate plants and flowers survive without the least injury.

The efforts of Chief Clerk Duckworth to throw the blame of the "Legislature of a Thousand Clerks" upon the members of the non-partisan legislative commission, when he deems it necessary, shall have the power, upon the request of either party thereto, to visit the locality of dispute and make careful inquiry into the cause thereof. There will ever any controversy exists between an individual and an employment agent, the commissioner shall have power to investigate the same under the provisions of sections 7 and 8 of this act."

The labor laws of Australia, which have driven millions of local capital into sheep husbandry and gold mining that might have gone into the manufacture of articles needed in daily life, were never more one-sided than this. Sensible men know that labor is, and always has been, most prosperous when the rights of capital are properly conserved. The trouble is that capital has no rights that these labor agitators feel bound to respect. They expect the employer to march up with a big bank account, erect factory buildings put

A SOUTHERN SOLOMON.

Congressman Patterson of Tennessee made a speech in Baltimore a few days ago, in which he paid his respects to the authors of the Bryan stampede at Chicago. He went on to show how the eleven cotton-growing States, for the sake of forming a chimerical coalition with three or four Populist States in the extreme Northwest, had alienated the support and cooperation of four sister States in the South, as well as all their old allies and friends in New York, New Jersey and the other States that incline toward Democracy so long as it did not menace the commercial prosperity and industrial welfare of the North. He then asked (and very pertinently, too) whence do they expect to obtain the immigration and capital necessary for the growth and development of the South? He pointed to the fact that every railroad, every river and every coastwise line of steamers penetrated into the eighteen States north of the Ohio and Potomac and east of the Missouri, which cast their electric vote for McKinley; and it is, he claimed, to those eighteen McKinley States that the cotton-bearing region of the country must look for the money needed to till more land and export heavier crops. He then went on to say:

"Not a river, not a railroad and not a ship goes from the cotton States to the inhospitable mining States of the Rocky mountains, yet, politically, we are the ones that are to be taxed."

They are worse than Anarchists, they are sapping the foundations from under free institutions. And there is no cause for worry through fear that they will not receive their reward.

Mr. Patterson then went on to speak of the suicidal course embodied in following the teachings of "Billy Boy" Bryan and what disastrous consequence were certain to result therefrom, if such blind guides as Bryan, Alford or Jones (of Arkansas) were to be selected as the leaders of the Democracy hereafter. He said he spoke for men who had the good of the South at heart and desired to see grain waving over fields that had been graveyards for brave men from the North and South alike. He spoke for men who wanted to see the whole country prosperous and who were only too anxious to abandon an issue that is hopeless and ought forever to be hopeless. He then referred to Bryanism in the following strong language:

"The Democrats who voted for McKinley and Palmer, and the Democrats who voted for Bryan only for the sake of party regularity, will never allow their brethren into a repetition of the blunders of the Cotton States."

If Bryan is to be the leader of the Democracy of the future; if his speech at Chicago is to be its inspiration, and the deliverance of the Chicago convention are to be its guides, then say it, in the name of all that is right, it is leaving us to but to take our stand on the Indianapolis platform and there resist, as best we can, the encroachments of paternalism, whether they come in the form of an attempt to create values by the coining or emanating of new money, or by attempting to create prosperity by unnecessarily laying the burdens of taxation on the substance of the people. With the teachings of such illustrious statesmen as Jefferson, Calhoun, Webster, Clay and Hill to guide them, how the people of these States, in disregard of the enlightened judgment of the commercial and scholarly world, could have abandoned their old ideals, antagonized the Presidents of their choice and stood up on an economic heresy which, if adopted, would have led inevitably to silver monometalism and national disaster and dishonor, is a problem which defies a rational solution. It is unlike the southern people."

Mr. Patterson, in the issue of the Courier-Journal of the day following the delivery of Mr. Patterson's speech, came out with an unqualified strong endorsement of its leading features, and said it was truly fortunate for the South that she had a man of as broad-gauge ability as Mr. Patterson to put the burning questions of the day into such good language and present them so intelligently as the Tennessee member had done. After that Mr. Watterson, having first fervently invoked the star-eyed goddess to nerve his arm, went to work in a very sober and sensible way to read the Democracy a neat little lecture on the evil of hunting after new friends and deserting the old ones who had proven their sincerity and fidelity on countless occasions. The speech has created quite a stir in the South, and the leading papers in the Gulf States are publishing it under such headings as "An Appeal to Reason," "The Return of Common Sense" and such captions as those. There can be no doubt Mr. Patterson "woke to find himself famous" on the day following its delivery.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

San Diego has just established a tobacco factory in which to prepare tobacco raised in that county for the market. Southern California will watch the progress of this pioneer factory with interest. The excellent qualities of the tobacco leaf raised in San Diego county are attested by a number of smokers and tobacco experts.

The Times' Riverside correspondent has found what appears to be a grab of $1200 per year through the Highland Asylum, that salary being paid to a clerk of whom but from two to five days work per month is required. The sinecure has recently been awarded by Gov. Budd for the services of an editor in running a Democratic newspaper.

The growth of Johannesburg shows what can be done by energetic men with nothing but a desert to start with. In less than a month the projectors of the enterprise have developed water; laid out their land, graded the streets, built reservoirs, laid pipe lines, erected buildings and started a lively mining town, with a postoffice and other modern conveniences.

While we hear a great many people growling about hard times, there is at least one species of croaker who is obliged to keep his mouth shut in Los Angeles just now. This is the man who predicts that we are going to have a dry season, with all its attendant threatening disasters, that exist mainly in the minds of said croakers. This variety of citizen is just now too busy trying to pick his way among the mud puddles to have time to talk about the weather.

The fact that throughout the State there is a tendency to readjust irrigation water rates is significant. Irrigation matters are now in the transitory state between the period of experiment and the period of settled conditions. It is unavoidable that California pass through that transition, and it will be well for the State if the people bear in mind the words of the poet, "Keep your shirt on," and do not get excited. Calm consideration of the problems presented, and not quarreling, is the key to the situation.

George F. Weeks has sold the Bakersfield Californian and purchased a good and well-founded paper in the Alameda Encinal, which was founded nearly thirty years ago by Frederick Weeks. Boothe's good name. Mr. Weeks is an able man and full of progressive ideas, for the sake of which anybody would be ready to forgive him for his free-coalition fallacies. He made the Californian a very sprightly exchange while he had it, and has a much better field where he is now locating himself.

The frappé East still insists that Los Angeles is on the edge of the Arctic Circle, and is buried out of sight beneath a blanket of snow. The Freeport (Ill.) Bulletin remarks editorially that "no snow is on the ground in Los Angeles than has been seen in twenty years." As it is useless to state the fact that snow never has been seen on the ground in Los Angeles, it may be well to humor the Freeport Bulletin by admitting that a glacier is slowly moving down Spring street, that the Courthouse has been overwhelmed by an avalanche, and that Pasadena is not likely to be dug out of the drifts before next May.

Pasadena's City Attorney has come home again. He has been at Sacramento trying to secure the passage of a bill to permit Pasadena to raise the tax limit. The Trustees appropriated $100 to pay his expenses, and they are now anxiously waiting to see whether they will get value for their money. Meantime, some aggrieved citizens are industriously circulating petitions to defeat the proposed change. Some of them are kicking vigorously against the expenditure of the city's funds to pay Mr. Arthur's lobbying expenses, and others are unkindly asserting that the real object of his trip was to mend his political fences. The usually peaceful little town is getting much excitement out of the affair.

Costly and Debt-laden Churches. [San Diego Vidette.] It is a fair question whether church organizations, any more than individuals, have a right to go into debt for elegant and costly buildings, and then expect the general public to shoulder the burden when they find they are unable to pay for them. The Los Angeles Times can see nothing in the Bible that warrants individuals or religious bodies to borrow money or go into debt for the sake of acquiring wealth. The old-fashioned Methodist meeting-house, free from debt, is better than a grand tabernacle with a big mortgage on it.

TARIFF ON ORANGES.

EFFORTS MADE TO SECURE LEGISLATION ON THE SUBJECT.

California Citrus-growers' Tariff Committee Working Hard for Subscriptions — Representatives to Be Sent to Washington Next March.

In consideration of the fact that Congress is to be convened in extra session to enact a tariff law as soon as President McKinley is fairly seated in the Presidential chair, the citrus fruit growers of Southern California have started a vigorous campaign in behalf of the orange tariff.

The mass meeting of citrus fruit growers held in Los Angeles December 18, 1896, gave an impetus to this movement by bringing to the horticulturists of this country a full realization of the seriousness of the present crisis.

The present tariff of 20 cents a box is a mere bagatelle to importers, when the cheapness of production in foreign lands is compared with the cost of landing a box of Southern California oranges in Chicago, New York.

After the great Florida freeze many of the orange growers went down into Mexico. There they could and did purchase large tracts of land admirably adapted for growing citrus fruits, at prices far below those of California. Land, labor and freight charges for landing Mexican fruit in Chicago are about the same as the cost of sending the same amount to the same destination from California.

There is not only the difference of $150 or more per acre in the actual price of land to the horticulturist of Southern California, but the heavy expense of irrigation required to bring the fruit to perfection. Then there is the cost of picking, packing, fumigating, curing and shipping, with high-class and high-priced labor. It is no wonder that the present tariff of 20 cents a box is not enough to keep the flood of foreign fruit that threatens to keep the California product out of the markets altogether. The growers cannot afford to compete by selling fruit at less than the cost of production.

Another great danger to the orange industry of Southern California lies in the importation of Mexican fruit infected with the dreaded orange worm. This pest is by far the most serious that ever threatened the orange and reputation of the California orange, and if once gets a foothold there is no telling where it may end.

The large exportation budded stock to Europe within the last few years is another reason why a protective tariff should be placed on oranges. Washington oranges are already being sent across the ocean in constantly increasing quantities, and between cheap European and cheap Mexican oranges, the citrus fruit industry in Southern California has but a small chance of future existence if the present conditions continue.

Fully realizing this, the California Citrus Growers' Tariff Committee is leaving no stone unturned to effect the needed legislation. The members of the committee are: E. F. Klokke, Orange county; F. Q. Story, Los Angeles county; N. W. Blanchard, Ventura county; A. E. Woodford, San Bernardino county; E. P. Hollister, Santa Barbara county; J. H. E. Chamblin, Riverside county; R. H. Young, San Diego county; A. T. Hutchinson, Kern county. Of these the Executive Committee includes T. H. B. Chamblin, F.

A spirited address has been issued to all citrus-growers asking for subscriptions that will enable the committee to send two or three able representatives to Washington to secure the prohibition of fruit from the infected districts in Mexico, and a duty on other foreign fruit equivalent to that imposed on California oranges. A memorial to be presented to Congress has already received nearly four thousand signatures and great hope of success is entertained.

CALIFORNIA EXHIBITS.

Now Being Made Ready for Coming Expositions.

News comes from the State Board of Trade that the California exhibit will go to the Hamburg Exposition by the middle of February, and Superintendent Wiggins wants every one who has anything to send across the water to confer at once with him on the subject of getting it there. Exhibits will also be sent to Guatemala, the $10,000 appropriation having been granted by the Legislature. The bicyclist was bitten in the calf of the leg and on the heel. He called at the Receiving Hospital and had the wounds cauterized.

Seeley was found not guilty of disturbing the peace.

Three colored men who were suspected of the crime.

Three colored men, said by the police to be hard characters, are locked up in police headquarters on a charge of battery. They are suspected of a serious crime, that of complicity in the murder of James Belleville last Sunday morning, rested against them until recently.

The prisoners are George Ford, an ex-con and Cy and Lige Robinson.

The two former were arrested last Wednesday and the latter was taken into custody yesterday.

Lige Robinson was arrested on San Pedro street by Detectives Hawley and Aiken, and Oscar E. Stewart and Detective Steele arrested George Ford. Cy Robinson was captured by Detectives Hawley and Auble. An investigation showed the men to be accomplices of the Belleville murderer, but a charge of battery was withdrawn against them, the complainant being a young man named Bertrand, who was badly beaten last Monday morning at the corner of Second street and Stephen's avenue.

Ford and Cy Robinson pleaded guilty and will be sentenced today. The other man will be arraigned today.

They Were Married.

Romance of James Leach and Anna May Livenan.

Anna May Livenan, that was, and her husband, James Leach, stood before Polk Clerk Gridley, a Notarial Publician. Thursday evening, and with flashing eyes the husband produced a document which set at rest the fears of the police that he was not the lawful husband of the little girl who stood by his side.

Both had figured in a pretty little romance, and as usual, Cupid won out. Leach is an employee of the Cudahy Packing Company, and he had been engaged to a handsome fifteen-year-old Anna May Livenan. When he proposed marriage she readily consented, but there were obstacles in the way. Mrs. H. L. Smyser, the girl's sister, who lives at No. 316 South Spring street, was opposed to the marriage.

Then the young couple were struck with a brilliant idea. They would go to San Pedro and board a schooner. After they were out on the high seas they would ask the captain to join them heart and hand. This was done.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach returned to this city and engaged apartments at a Broadway lodging-house.

Mrs. Smyser learned of their whereabouts and was afraid that something was wrong. She took Officer Rodger into confidence and enlisted his aid. The two went to the lodging-house and were assured that the couple they were in search of were living there. Neither was in, however, and the officer returned to his post.

But little later Mrs. Smyser made another attempt to locate her sister and was assisted by Officer Stewart. He ran into them at the corner of Second street and Broadway, and requested them to walk to the Police Station with him. They did and, accompanied by Mrs. Smyser, they soon stood before Clerk Gridley.

Then it was that the young husband produced his marriage certificate, which set forth that James Leach and Anna May Livenan had been married on the high seas of the Pacific Ocean. The latitude and longitude were given and the document was duly signed by the captain of the schooner who had performed the ceremony.

After seeing this, Mrs. Smyser forgave the couple and all left the station in the best of spirits.

The Harbor Board.

The work of the Harbor Board in this field is about concluded. Commissioner Morrison arrived yesterday afternoon from San Francisco and took rooms at the Westminster, where he will remain until his departure for the East on Wednesday he will be joined by Commissioner Rodgers, who is now in San Francisco, and Commissioner Morgan, who has been staying at Pasadena, and all three members of the board will leave for Washington together, where their closing session will be held on February 10.

The boring and sounding operations, which were conducted by the Coast Survey for the purposes of the board, have been transferred to Santa Monica and will be brought to an end next week.

Held for Trial.

Harry McCourt and Harry Grace, two of the six boys who were arrested on charges of burglary, were held to the Superior Court for trial by Justice Owens yesterday. McCourt's bail was fixed at $1,000, while Grace was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Crops and Markets.

The fair weather following the rain has caused vegetation to make a vigorous growth, and according to reports from some sections to the local weather office, has brought out a few fruit buds ahead of time. Farm work of every description is progressing rapidly. Early-sown grain is showing up well.

It is believed by some that this will prove to be an exceptionally wet winter. So far, the rain has come in good shape, so as to produce the best possible effect with the amount of moisture that has fallen. The rain is especially advantageous to California just now, from the fact that wheat crops are light throughout the world, and there is every prospect that good prices will be secured for the coming crop of the State.

Oranges are going forward steadily. There has been a slight improvement in the price of first-class fruit during the week. Buyers at Redlands have been paying from $1.75 to $2.50 for navelines.

Business in dried fruit has not been very lively. An enormous quantity of dried apples will be put up in the East this year, which will tend to depress the price of California dried fruit.

In prunes there are few changes. The larger size are somewhat scarce and bring full prices.

Prices of local products have been steady during the week. Barley has been rather quiet. Two shiploads of barley were shipped from San Francisco to England about ten days ago.

Most of the barley that has gone to Europe recently was of the Chevalier variety, of which there is little remaining in the State.

The Fruit Exchange.

In the latest issue of the Anaheim Gazette, A. H. Cargill had a communication in regard to the attack made by the Gazette upon the Southern California Fruit Exchange in which he gives over much of the ground that was covered by The Times in its recent article on this subject. The Times offered to print any communication from fruit-growers bearing upon the subject of the policy of the fruit exchange, but has so far not received any, from which it may be concluded that the opposition to the exchange is not so wide spread as some have supposed.

In a recent article on this subject the San Diego Union makes the following suggestion as to one cause which is retarding the extension of the exchange system. These remarks are worthy of consideration:

"There is no occasion to enumerate the factors that have tended to weaken the exchange. Some of them go back to the time when some of the trial balloon is beyond recovery. There is, however, one very serious defect in the system, and until it is removed the exchange cannot hope to attain the success which it has advocated desire for. The trouble is that practically no provision is made for rendering aid to fruit-growers who need assistance to tide them over until they receive the returns for their season's crop. The man who raises fruit is commonly a different creature from the grower of wheat, cotton or other staples. All over the country there is a very large class of farmers who are compelled to borrow money between crops. Of course it is unfortunate that these growers are not more independently situated than they do not have to borrow. The California fruit-growers are certainly quite as independent as other classes of agriculturists, but for all that many of them require money while waiting for the returns from their orchards. This aid is commonly afforded by commission firms.

"With one or two exceptions, no provision is made by cooperative marketing organizations in California for advancing funds to fruit-growers. This defect has kept many growers from joining such associations. It has also been the cause of many withdrawals. It is this lack of any provision for tiding over its members that has been the chief obstacle to the fruit exchange. It is unfortunate that steps were not taken long ago to remedy this defect.

The exchange might with advantage take lessons from the Fresno raisin-growers. In former years they had a certain provision for making advances, and it was not a success. Then they talked of freezing out the weaker growers, but this plan happily was abandoned. Finally they concluded to form an association which should make its members make advances to them when needed. The man worked well, and the past season has been a success.

"It is true that one or two associations in the exchange have made advances to their members. But, generally speaking, the growers have had to wait for their money. If the exchange could arrange to advance to members soon after the opening of the shipping season a sum, a percentage of the value of the fruit on the tree—perhaps from 50 to 75 cents per box, according to quality—one of the greatest objections to joining the cooperative movement would be removed. Had the exchange adopted this view a year or two years ago, its position today would be much stronger."

The San Francisco Chronicle, in its agricultural department, commenting upon the same subject, recently had the following:

"We note that a portion of the southern press attacks the Southern California fruit exchanges on the ground that the president of the exchanges is making money by reason of his interest in a certain transportation line which he helped to establish, and which carries the fruit of the exchanges. It is not denied that the exchanges are also making money by the operation. Indeed, it would be useless to deny it, for the arc. Before the establishment of this line a certain rate was paid by the growers for the use of refrigerator cars; the new line made the same price as other lines, but gave rebates to the exchanges, which last year amounted, as we remember it, to between $50,000 and $30,000, which were distributed among the growers. So much, at least, has been a clear gain to the growers as the result of the work of the president of the exchanges. We are not sure that it is in violation of the interstate commerce law, if there was not an open rate, free to all, and that all parties to it are not liable to be put in jail, but anyhow, the exchanges and the growers got it. It is now charged that in addition to the president of the exchanges is personally making money, either as a stockholder or an officer of the car company which he started. We know nothing whatever as to the facts in the case, but we presume that he is making money in that way, and we see no reason why he should not. The exchanges certainly pay him nothing."

ures, it would not do so until the seventh year.

The Times goes into this matter at some length because such statements as this are likely to be extensively copied, and thus create a false impression.

In regard to duty, Mr. Hoag, in his paper, recommended a duty of 50 cents per standard box of two cubic feet. This is a more reasonable amount than has been asked by some California growers, who have been demanding a duty of 45 cents per cubic foot, equivalent to about 90 cents per box, a rate of duty that is preposterously high, from the standpoint of eastern people, and one which there is no probability that Congress would grant. The growers in the northern part of the State have been more reasonable, asking for a duty of 20 cents per cubic foot. Congressman Bowers, when he received the request to ask for a duty of 50 cents per cubic foot, or $1 per box, wrote back that he would ask for 25 cents, which was as much as he thought there was any chance of getting. In this case Mr. Bowers was undoubtedly right. To show the folly of attempting to get such a duty as 90 cents per box, it is only necessary to mention that before the McKinley law went into effect, the duty on oranges was 15 cents per cubic foot, or 20 cents per box; the McKinley law reducing it to 12 cents per cubic foot, and the Wilson tariff reducing it still further, to 8 cents per cubic foot. Now, if we could succeed in getting the duty fixed at 25 cents per cubic foot, or 50 cents per box, which is twice the amount of duty received under the McKinley law, we should be doing very well.

Agriculture at Chaffee College.

The announcement is made that an agricultural department is to be added to Chaffee College, at Ontario. The new departure owes its inception to S. M. Woodbridge, who has furnished the college with a laboratory. This college has always been understood to partake more or less of an agricultural character, but, in fact, it has been to a great extent merely a preparatory school for the Methodist college at the university. Under proper management, this new agricultural department should prove of decided benefit to the fruit-growers of Southern California. It is stated that there will be an experiment station, on the lines laid down by eastern colleges, covering twenty acres. Any farmers in the southern counties will be offered an opportunity to carry on tests on their own land, under the supervision of the superintendent and chemist of this new agricultural department.

Frosts at Riverside.

The orange-growers at Riverside have shown a praiseworthy determination this year to do everything possible toward protecting their groves from frosts. This is much better than to ignore the fact that frost occasionally visits the lower section of that settlement. Possibly, the course of The Times in describing the actual facts of the case last season has had something to do with the change of front on part of Riverside growers. Commenting upon this matter, the Bakersfield Californian says:

"It is interesting to note that our Riverside contemporaries are devoting large space to the 'great problem of frost prediction and frost protection.' Time was, say about that memorable period when the frosted oranges were plowed under at the suggestion of a number of growers per man, when for an average River sider to merely suggest that there was danger of damage from frost was considered treason of the deepest dye, and no punishment too severe. The growers themselves indignantly denied that the temperature ever could, would or had, reached a damaging stage. But now all this is changed. The truth is recognized, and, as stated, one of the leading topics of discussion now is frost protection.

The Government Seed Distribution.

While the legislators of California are being criticised for their extravagance in furnishing light jobs to political deadheads, at the expense of the people, the question of extravagance on the part of the national legislators in voting a large sum of money for a useless seed distribution should not be lost sight of.

In spite of the severe criticism of this practice by Secretary Morton, the Agricultural Appropriation Bill recently presented to the House of Representatives, carries an appropriation for the purchase and distribution of seeds amounting to $120,000, and the Secretary is directed to expend the appropriation. Secretary Morton made no estimate for this expenditure, and, as in former bills, it was inserted without his sanction. It should be generally understood by the people that this distribution of seeds serves no useful purpose. It is simply a wasting of the people's money for the purpose of enabling Congressmen to keep on good terms with their constituents.

Mr. Mills, the Mathematician.

[San Francisco Examiner, January 28, 1897.] A month ago W. H. Mills circulated through all the railroad organs of the State his formal announcement of the results that must follow the closure of the Government's lien on the Pacific roads:

"The first mortgage, which must be discharged before the government can have recourse against the property, is worth $12,000,000, and the reasonable valuation of the property being $17,000,000, the equity of redemption is by fair deduction valued at $13,000,000, and it is this equity of redemption that the government may dispose of by force."

"The difference of valuation between the actual value of the roads and the actual first mortgage incumbrance upon which the government must rely for the collection of the $13,000,000 now due, is, therefore, only probable, but actually conceivable, that the proposition to foreclose the government's claim and sell it at auction means to discharge the debt of $121,000,000 by the payment of $12,000,000."

Mr. Mills asserted, as an indisputable mathematical truth, that the value of the government's interest in all the roads combined did not exceed $13,000,000. The Morgan syndicate has just offered $45,754,000 as a minimum bid for the government's claim on the Union and Kansas Pacific alone, and the Attorney-General expresses the opinion that higher bids may be received at the sale. There will doubtless be offers at least as favorable for the Central Pacific. Thus, even if the government should be so weak as to give up less than $13,000,000, the Morgan syndicate is reasonably sure of eighty or ninety million dollars, instead of the thirteen millions which Mr. Mills asserted to be the full value of its equity.

With the extensive dairy and wool interest of this Coast, and the abundance of hog feed as a rule, there will never be a necessity for a shortage in the supply of beef, mutton, or pork. Based on the assessment rolls of the different counties, there are $30,000 dairy cows in this State. From these can be produced 150,000 bullocks a year, and the production of dairy cattle is steadily on the increase.

HAD A GALVANIC BATTERY.

Francisco Navy's Possession Lands Him in the City Jail.

Francisco Navy was arrested yesterday afternoon at the corner of First and Los Angeles streets by Detective Steele and Officer Vignes and was locked up on suspicion.

Navy had in his possession a box containing a medical galvanic battery, which he claimed he had found in a deserted house somewhere in the city. He spent yesterday morning trying to sell his treasure, of which he said he did not know the nature, to a number of second-hand dealers on Main street. At that time he was suspected, but he escaped notice for a time by changing his costume from a tuxedo to a suit and duster and coat.

Navy is said to be the man who stole six or eight window-sashes from the Figueras about two weeks ago. At that time the proprietor, Paul H. Lemmett, caught the man in the act and started with him in his buggy to police headquarters. Just as the man was turning a corner, the Mexican jumped out of the buggy and made good his escape in the darkness of the evening.

Rainfall to Date.

The rainfall for yesterday's storm up noon was 0.32 inches, making a total for the season to date of 8.80 inches. For the corresponding period last year the record was 5.05 inches.

The rainfall up to date for the last eleven years was: For 1878, 10.93; 1879, 12.6; 1880, 9.98; 1881, 3.04; 1882, 4.49; 1883, 2.95; 1884, 9.38; 1885, 8.06; 1886, 9.01; 1887, 8.71; 1888, 12.04; 1889, 25.90; 1890, 8.52; 1891, 2.05; 1892, 9.79; 1893, 11.73; 1894, 7.03; 1895, 6.49; 1896, 7.72.

The average is 9 inches for nineteen years.

The Fraternal Field.Masonic.

The officers of Pomona Lodge, No. 246, F. and A. M., were installed last Saturday night by Past Master W. T. Martin as installing officer.

A large class of novices will be conducted across the burning sands of the desert by Al Malakah Temple Nobles of the Mystic Shrine next Friday night at the temple. The ceremonies will be followed with a banquet.

At the annual meeting of the Masonic Board of Relief the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Samuel Prager; Vice-President, John Dunsmoor; Secretary, C. W. Blake; Treasurer, J. C. Cunningham; Messrs. Prager and Blake were re-elected.

The proceedings of the last session of the Grand Lodge of California are being sent out to those entitled to receive them. This is the earliest the proceedings have ever been sent out after the close of a session, and Grand Secretary Johnson is being commended for his promptness.

The funeral of Dr. Orswell A. Wheeler, one of the prominent citizens of Monrovia, was held in that place last Sunday under Masonic auspices, the services being rendered by Rev. Dr. Conger of Pasadena.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the Scottish Rite bodies of the city for the dedication of their new cathedral on Washington's birthday. Masons of high degree from all parts of the State will be present. Thomas H. Caswell, thirty-third degree, Supreme Commander A. and A. S. R. of the southern jurisdiction, will assume charge of the ceremonies assisted by W. H. Pfeifer, thirty-third degree, Inspector General and Officer F. Crocker, Grand Commander of the Grand Consistory of California.

An interesting event in California Lodge No. 1, F. and A. M., is the annual visit of William S. Moses, the patriarch of the mason Mason. He is the oldest living Mason, with one exception, in Masonic service in the State. He visited the lodge in question last week, wearing the emblematic apron which he wore in 1850, N. Y. York, and otherwise dressed as the masons of California were in 1850. Mr. Moses also enjoys the distinction of being the only Mason in California upon whom the order of the Grand Cross has been conferred by the Supreme Commandant of the Southern Jurisdiction of the United States. There are but four others in the United States upon whom this order has been conferred.

Los Angeles Chapter, No. 33, R. A. M., conferring the third degree Tuesday evening, and Signet Chapter the most excellent degree Tuesday evening.

Pentalph Lodge, No. 202, F. and A. M., conferred the third degree Monday night, and the Southern Commandery Lodge the same degree Wednesday night.

E. Y. Chevalier, an old resident of Riverside, who died from the effects of injuries on Monday, was buried on Wednesday under the auspices of the Riverside Lodge.

District Inspector C. L. Ennis went to Alhambra Tuesday and installed the following officers of Alhambra Lodge, No. 322, F. and A. M.: H. H. Haasecombe, S. W.; N. W. Thompson, J. A. K. Smith, Treasurer; E. B. Stuart, Secretary; D. W. Withthee, S.D.; D. W. March, J. D. H. P. Ware, Marshal; Robert Patil, S.S.; James McDonough, J.S.; Neal Townsend, Tyler.

Los Angeles Commandery, No. 9, K. C., conferred the Order of the Temple Thursday night.

Old Fellows.

Karl Stromson, D.D.G.M., and about twenty members of Embacadero Lodge, No. 348, of San Pedro, visited Bishop's Lodge, No. 19, on Wednesday the 21st, and installed the officers of the latter lodge. A banquet and social session followed the ceremonies.

An elaborate celebration of the seventy-eighth anniversary of the order of the plumed hat, Santa Barbara, on April 26. The principal oration will be delivered by Past Grand Master William H. Barnes.

Grand Patriarch Doran visited Galt, Sacramento, Modesto, Petaluma, Vallejo, and Napa this week. Next Monday he will visit Santa Rosa, and will be with Magnolia Encampment of East Los Angeles Thursday night. On the 15th he will visit San Bernardino and the 18th San Ana.

New Thursday evening the five lodges composing the thirty-fifth district will meet at the hall of East Side Lodge for the purpose of organizing a district degree team. A team will be organized by the following officers of District No. 20. The district comprises East Side, Semi-Tropic, America Hofer and San Fernando lodges.

Santa Monica Encampment, No. 95, had degree ceremony Friday night by the officers who were installed on the evening of the 22d.

Semi-Tropic Lodge, No. 371, conferred the degree of truth on seven candidates Tuesday night. The attendance was large, exceeding fifteen voting members.

The officers-elect of Riverside Lodge gave an oyster supper to the members of the lodge after the installation on Tuesday night.

San Antonio Encampment, No. 8, of Pomona, will have degree work next Monday night. Grand Patriarch Doran will visit the encampment on February 8.

Canton Orion, No. 12, gave a banquet to Canton Los Angeles, No. 27, Thursday night, at the conclusion of a drill. Numerous toasts were made.

The funeral of J. A. E. Brent of Golden Rule Lodge will be held under the auspices of that lodge Sunday afternoon.

The Rebekahs.

Mrs. Frank Rogers installed the officers of Santa Ana Lodge last week. Arbor Vista Lodge, No. 88, initiated two candidates Tuesday night.

Coldwater Lodge, No. 194, held a nice programme under good of the order Monday night, the principal feature being the remarks of J. H. Gingrey.

Uncle Lodge, No. 172, will give a sheet and piano party at Memorial Hall next Saturday night.

Eureka Lodge, No. 128, gave a hard times social at the hall on Downey Avenue Wednesday night, for the benefit of the family of one of its members. The committee was successful in raising the sum of $100.

In connection with the nature of the affairs prizes for the best sustained character were awarded to Miss Dora Gregory and J. H. Kreigler, personating a school girl and boy respectively, dancing during the award of prizes.

Knights of Pythias.

JOHN LEE FOUND GUILTY.

TAKES THE JURY TWELVE MINUTES TO REACH A VERDICT.

Contestants Rest in the Alanzis Will Contest—Suit for Twenty-five Thousands Dollars Damages.
Embezzler Bound Over.

At the City Hall yesterday the Board of Public Works and the Supply Committee held meetings. The latter committee prepared a report recommending that the City Clerk be authorized to purchase all the supplies used by the different municipal departments.

The brief trial of John Lee, who was in Department One, concluded yesterday, the jury rendering a verdict of guilty as charged, in twelve minutes. Lee will appear before Judge Smith for sentence on Monday morning. The contestants in the Alanzis will contest at last rested their case, and the proponents have begun to introduce their testimony. A suit for $25,000 damages against the Los Angeles Railway Company has been filed for the death of Charles C. Odell, a conductor who was killed by an electric shock last November. Barthelman's attorney made a motion for a new trial yesterday, and was allowed ten days in which to prepare an argument on the motion. A deposition for the defense in the Spencer trial was taken before Judge Van Dyke yesterday, and Justice Young bound over an embezzler to appear before the Superior Court.

PURCHASE OF SUPPLIES.

METHOD USED IN THE PAST SAID TO BE DEFECTIVE.

A Committee Recommends to the Council That the City Clerk Be Made the Purchasing Agent
Hereafter for All Departments.

The Supply Committee of the Council is dissatisfied with the methods now in use by the different municipal departments in the matter of purchasing supplies.

After a careful consideration of the subject, the committee has decided to recommend to the Council that hereafter the City Clerk be authorized to act as a purchasing agent for the entire administration. In a report to the Council prepared yesterday, the committee speaks as follows:

"Your committee respectfully call the attention of your honorable body to the fact that some provision other than that now existing should be made for the purchase of supplies for the various departments of the city. At present each department is purchasing its own stock without having provision made for keeping account of the same, and with the result that amounts are carried in excess of immediate demand by some departments, while others will be in need of same. It is the opinion of this committee that the Clerk should be designated as the purchaser and custodian of all supplies of the various departments; that he should be provided with a place to keep same in his immediate care and ready, upon requisition of the various departments. We feel that in this manner larger quantities could be purchased, better prices obtained, and a closer check kept upon all supplies."

In addition to this recommendation the committee's report contains the following:

"Your Supply Committee, to whom was referred the bids of the Crescent Coal Company and D. F. McGarry for supply the various departments of the city with coal, would respectfully recommend that no contract be entered into at present for the purchase of coal, and that the bids above referred to be filed."

"In the matter of the ordinance in relation to garbage can, your committee would respectfully report recommending that the draft of same as submitted by the City Attorney be adopted."

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Boller Inspection and Street-sign Topics Laid Over.

The Board of Public Works was expected to take action upon two important matters at its meeting yesterday, these being the ordinance repealing all "boller-inspection" legislation and the draft of a franchise to erect street signs with advertising matter upon them.

At the request of R. A. Ling, counsel for Boller Inspector Walters, the ordinance was laid over one week, and similar action was taken with reference to the street-sign proposition. Other matters referred to the board were acted upon as follows:

"In the matter of petition from P. W. Johnson, et al., requesting that the avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets be graded, graveled, curbed with cement, sidewalked under the bond provisions of the Vrooman Act, received and transmitted to the City Engineer for the necessary estimate of cost, and if the same exceeds the amount required by law, then to prefer the ordinance of intention.

"In the matter of petition from Frank Pfaffinger, et al., asking that the grade of Hope street, between Temple and Courthouse streets, be established as set forth in said petition, recommended that the same be referred to the City Engineer for the necessary estimate of costage, and to investigate the practicability of the same.

"Recommend that petition from Henry Giap, et al., asking to have a five-foot cement walk laid on both sides of Wall street, between Fifth and Boyd streets, be granted and the City Engineer instructed to prepare and present the necessary ordinance of intention therefor.

"In the matter of petition from E. Huddleston, et al., asking that Boyle street, between Ninth and Connecticut streets, be graded, graveled, curbed and sidewalked under the bond provisions of the Vrooman Act, recommended the same be referred to the City Engineer for estimate of cost, and if the same exceeds the amount required by law, then to present the necessary ordinance of intention.

"Recommend petition from J. R. Tetherman, et al., asking that cement walk be laid on each side of Orange street, between Pearl street and Union avenue, be granted and the City Engineer instructed to present the necessary ordinance of intention.

"Recommend that petitions from J. E. Murray et al., from L. Y. Murray et al., and protest from E. P. Bosshard, in reference to sidewalkening Orange street, be filed.

"Recommend that petition from John McDonald, et al., calling attention to the condition of E. Ninth street, be referred to the City Engineer, in connection with other petitions heretofore referred to him, to report the best method of abating the nuisance complained of.

"Recommend that the ordinance of intention to establish the grade of Vermont avenue and Pico street, to a point 1000 feet south of the south line of Pico street, be placed upon its passage.

"In compliance with the recommendation of the City Engineer, recommend that all preparation for establishing the grade of Alton street under ordinance of intention No. 393 (new series) be abandoned.

"Recommend that the Street Superintendent be instructed to extend the storm drain on South Cheyenne street from Second to Third streets.

"Recommend that the City Engineer be instructed to establish the grade of the alley between Boyle avenue and State street and First and Second streets.

"Recommend that the Street Superintendent be instructed to have the gutter on the west side of Los Angeles street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, cleaned out at least once a month.

"In the matter of petition from Thomas S. Ewing, et al., asking to have a ditch dug on Trinity street, so as to carry the storm water off Twenty-first street, your board beg to report that the same should be referred to have been taken Trinity street graded.

"In the matter of protests from the McDonald Company, Alice Shafer, George H. Shafer, et al., and E. E. George, et al., against the confirmation of the report of the commissioners for the opening of Mateo street, your board beg leave to refer the same back to Council without recommendation."

MORE SUGGESTIONS.

The Unemployed Considered by Merchants and Manufacturers.

The City Council is in receipt of a letter from Secretary Knight of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association in relation to the unemployed men in the city. The letter states:

"To the Council of Los Angeles: Gentlemen: At a meeting of the board of directors of this association held January 25, the subject of the unemployed in our midst was introduced, and its various phases discussed at considerable length. These unfortunate people not only appeal to our sympathies for their alleviation, in some cases, through dependent upon them for support, but it is felt that so large an element of idle and needy men is a serious menace to the safety of our community.

The directors of this association, therefore, believe that the gravity of the situation calls for some action on the part of your honorable body without further delay. In accordance with that sentiment, the secretary was instructed to communicate to you, respectively urging that immediate steps be taken to provide work for the deserving unemployed.

"It was remarked that there is much needful work in the city, such as keeping the business streets in better order, macadamizing the suburban roadways, improving the parks and boulevards, etc. Assistance thus rendered is not to be construed as charity, for it will enable the recipient to help himself, retain his self-respect, and remain an honorable member of society.

"It is believed that public funds judiciously expended for such a purpose in the present emergency, will meet with the hearty approval of tax-payers."

BICYCLE RACKS.

Council Petitioned to Pass an Ordinance Permitting Their Use.

After presenting several petitions to the Council, in relation to the use of bicycle racks on the sidewalks of the city, T. E. Newlin yesterday filed with the City Clerk another document bearing on the subject, signed by several hundred persons and reading as follows:

"We, the undersigned residents of Los Angeles and citizens of the United States, respectfully petition your honorable body to pass an ordinance allowing merchants and other business people to place bicycle racks in front of their respective places of business for the accommodation of their customers who ride bicycles to occupy a space about two feet wide by three feet long and about three and one-half feet high on the outer edge of sidewalk, allowing a sign on the upper part."

MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL.

AT THE COURT HOUSE.
JOHN LEE CONVICTED.

COMPARATIVELY NO DEFENSE OFFERED IN HIS BEHALF.

The Jury Deliberated but Twelve Minutes Before Bringing in a Verdict—Lee Was Disappointed, Will Be Sentenced Monday.

Never was there better evidence of the truth of the statement that hope springs eternal in the human breast, than was demonstrated by the expression of keen disappointment depicted on the countenance of John Lee yesterday afternoon in Department One, when he heard the words pronounced which told him of his conviction for the crime of rape. To what straw Lee clung, in hoping that the jury would render a verdict in his favor, or even in hoping for a disagreement among the jurors, would be hard to state. Certain it is that the prisoner at the bar was for the moment staggered and almost overcome, when the thought came over him that he was, for the moment, the man of thirty-three years, a convicted felon.

The prosecution rested yesterday forenoon, Dr. Brainerd being the last witness called by the counsel for the defense. The testimony of the witness was largely upon medical lines, in all instances corroborative with and corroborating the testimony of former witnesses for the State.

The only witness called by the defense was the defendant himself. His direct examination was so of sickening a character as to cause one to wonder at the crossed questions.

The only points in which his story differed from that of the prosecutrix were those in which she had testified of his advances and intimidations. These statements of the little girl Lee denied, and admitted her willingness to comply with his request. She was taken altogether, such a barefaced, brazen admittance of criminal intention and action, as none but the most depraved would indulge in. Lee's defense was a denial of the actual perpetration of the act charged in the complaint.

Deputy District Attorney McComas gave the defendant such a cross-examination as he will never forget. A detailed account of his queries is unnecessary, but it is known that Lee was unable to ward off the charge of being a braggadocio, was about to fly at the District Attorney after leaving the witness-stand, when restrained and quieted by his counsel.

There were three arguments to the jury, of twenty-four minutes duration. Attorney Del Valle opened for the prosecution, Frank F. Davis, Esq., following him for the defense, and Deputy District Attorney McComas closing for the people. The counsel for the defendant made a strong plea to the jury to choose the defense over that of the prosecution.

Warden Hale came down from San Francisco to identify Lee in case the latter denied having served a term in the state prison. The warden was not used as a witness.

Monday at 10 o'clock is the time set for Lee to appear for sentence, but the usual motion for a new trial will be interposed, postponing the event for a greater or less interval.

EMBEZZLER BOUND OVER.

Held to Answer to the Superior Court in Bonds of $1000.

In the case of the people against Pellegrin, the defendant was examined yesterday before Justice Young, on a charge of embezzlement, and held over to appear before the Superior Court in bonds of $1000. According to the indictment introduced, the defendant was treasurer of a chapter of the Ancient Order of Drunks in this city. He disappeared with about $146 of the funds of the order which had been entrusted to his care, and was traced to Sacramento and from there to San Francisco, where he was arrested. His two bondsmen, who were called upon to make good the loss to the Drunks, were his prosecutors.

Pellegrin's defense is that he lent the money to a friend, trusting it would be immediately repaid. His friend fell ill, however, and is now sick in Sacramento, and has consequently been unable to liquidate his indebtedness to the defendant. The bondsmen, who were compelled to pay the $146, are very indignant over Pellegrin's actions in the matter and declare their intentions to make every endeavor to have him punished to the full extent of the law.

MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL.

John F. Barthelman Granted a Stay of Sentence.

John F. Barthelman, who was convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of his wife, Mabel Barthelman, appeared before Judge Smith, in Department One yesterday morning. Barthelman had been held over to appear yesterday, but had counsel Frank F. Davis, Esq., secured a stay of sentence on account of a motion for a new trial. Attorney Davis first endeavored to secure a stay of sentence on the ground that the information under which the defendant was convicted did not state a public offense. The court refusing to grant a stay of sentence on those grounds, consented to set for a new trial.

The motion for a new trial was based upon statutory grounds, several counts being cited. Among them were errors of the court, misconduct of the jury and misconduct of the District Attorney in his arguments.

The court granted counsel ten days in which to prepare an argument upon his motion.

Barthelman was not looking at all well yesterday when he stood in the court and was very pale and exceedingly nervous. The convicted man glanced about uneasily, as though he wished to be out from under the scrutiny of the many pairs of eyes watching him, and exhibited no emotion beyond that of extreme nervousness, which he betrayed by his restless movements.

The match will be fought about the middle of next month, and promises to be a very interesting one. Burns and Cotton boxed a four-round exhibition last month at the club, which showed the men to be very evenly matched.

A PROMISING MATCH.

Articles have been signed for a five-round boxing match between Jim Burns of Chicago, who recently fought Billy Gallagher, and Joe Cotton, the colored pugilist, who fought a draw with Gallagher some time ago. The match is for a purse to be put up by the Los Angeles Athletic Club, in whose rooms the fight will come off. The size of the purse has not yet been decided upon, or at least not given out, but we probably be $200 or more.

THE CONTESTANTS REST.

The Proponents Have Their Innings in the Alanzis Trial.

Yesterday afternoon the attorneys for the contestants of the will of Mrs. Alanzis rested their case, and the proponents began to introduce their testimony by placing on the stand James W. McDonald, Esq., one of the counsel for Mrs. Casenave and the attorney who drew up the disputed document.

Many witnesses were called by the proponents yesterday, none of whose testimony was of signal importance. Attorney Appel, for the contestants, endeavored to get the details of a conversation alleged to have been had between Alfredo Pico and one Luis Casenave.

Both were called to the stand, but the court would allow neither of them to answer the questions asked by the counsel. The conversation, as alleged, was going to show that a conspiracy had been formed between Mrs. Rubio and certain others, or rather, that Mrs. Rubio was in collusion with others to procure the execution of the will over which the contestants had been agreed.

Council Petitioned to Pass an Ordinance Permitting Their Use.

After presenting several petitions to the Council, in relation to the use of bicycle racks on the sidewalks of the city, T. E. Newlin yesterday filed with the City Clerk another document bearing on the subject, signed by several hundred persons and reading as follows:
